RÉSEAU EUROPÉEN DE MUSIQUE ANCIENNE
EUROPEAN EARLY MUSIC NETWORK

Versailles, 16 September 2014

Support by the European Early Music Network (REMA for Réseau Européen de Musique Ancienne) to the EUBO Mobile Baroque Academy Project

The European Union Baroque Orchestra (EUBO), a founder member of REMA, is preparing an application for a project of a mobile baroque academy, in the frame of the coming call for cooperation projects of the Creative Europe programme.

The European Union Baroque Orchestra does an extremely important work to provide young baroque musicians starting their careers, with skills and competences that are essential for their future as professional musicians. Playing with artists from many different countries, the members of the orchestra get new intercultural skills, on musical and personal level. Meeting and playing with European colleagues during intensive concert tours, they build new contacts, which often lead to future artistic cooperations.

The orchestra travels to and performs in capitals but also in remote places, bringing the European musical heritage to very diverse audiences.

As a unique educational platform, EUBO was welcome into the REMA network, which is mainly comprised of concert promoters and Early Music Festivals. REMA will complement the activities organised as part of the mobile baroque academy project by inviting the orchestra to perform at its REMA showcase festival, giving the young musicians the opportunity to get more visibility by performing in front of its members. REMA would also like to offer a space to the orchestra in its webradio project.

Therefore we strongly recommend the EUBO Mobile Baroque Academy (EMBA) project, which has the European Union Baroque Orchestra at its centre.
